Finest Rodeo Attracts The Largest Crowd

By far the largest crowd yet gathered in the Coliseum last night for the first performance of Gene Madison's World Championship rodeo. The rodeo will go on again tonight and Saturday night.

A packed house greeted the rodeo performance and came away highly pleased. The stock was rugged and rough and the riders were tops. In fact there are very few who won't tell you this is the best rodeo to appear here in 13 years. The specialty acts also came in for high praise.

At the showgrounds today the annual fat calf show got underway in the Coliseum at 10 a. m. and will be climaxed with the auction sale at 1:30 p. m.

Youths Sought in Car Thefts Are Captured

Three youths, aged 13 to 16, were captured by State Policeman Scrub Mosier and Miller Deputy Sheriff Jones early today in a barn near Texarkana following an all night search.

Officers said the two youths were escapees from a Kansas City boys prison and the third is a parolee. They admitted to stealing six cars since leaving Kansas City.

The trio eluded a roadblock near Mandeville after the auto near which they were driving was spotted by Marshal Jim Moore of Fulton. Moore gave chase and they drove the auto into a ditch and abandoned it. The car was stolen from the Buick Agency in Hope.

Police searched the area all night and finally found them under some hay in a barn at daybreak.

Nasser Hints He's Willing to Meet With Ike

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (AP)—President Nasser of Egypt says he has no objection to a face-to-face meeting with President Eisenhower to discuss a Middle Eastern settlement if Eisenhower takes the initiative for such a conference.

In a joint interview with Associated Press and National Broadcasting Co. correspondents Nasser said he did not want to propose such a meeting lest the State Department reply with a statement rejecting the proposal in a manner humiliating to Egypt.

"But I am ready to do anything possible for the cause of peace," the Egyptian President said. "I would have no objection to meeting Eisenhower if he took the initiative."

Looking physically fit and smiling, Nasser received the newsmen in the garden of his home inside an army compound of the Cairo suburb of Abbassia. He had no notes and no official advisers.

Nasser sharply defended his policy of positive neutrality, reiterated his pledge of all-out support of Syria and warned that Egypt may shop for more arms if Israel continues to build up its military strength.

Asked if Egypt would send troops to aid Syria in case of aggression against that country, Nasser replied: "As you know, we have an agreement with Syria regarding defense against aggression, and if any aggression occurs against Syria, Egypt will support Syria by all means. But the exact means depends on the kind of aggression."

Nasser denied that Syria had gone Communist, and predicted that Syria never would go Communist.

"I do not agree with this view that Syria has gone Communist," Nasser said. "The Syrians are nationalists. One should understand the difference between nationalism and communism."

Child Runs Into Car, Not Seriously Hurt

Officers said the driver of the auto was Bernard Eugene Owens of St. Louis, Mo. He stopped immediately and took the child to a doctor's office for a checkup.

However, she did not appear seriously hurt, Officers said.

Faubus Urges Calm; Wilson Hopes Troops Can Soon Be Recalled

Governor Calls Action Police State Methods

By ROBERT E. FORD

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus told Arkansas last night they have no choice concerning integration in the fact of what he called "unheated bayonets" and "police state methods" in the Little Rock racial struggle. He urged them to be calm.

But immediately after the talk, a former Arkansas governor, Sid McMath, and an NAACP field secretary, Clarence A. Laws, declared Faubus' words were not conciliatory, but instead were inflammatory.

In the sometimes bitter speech, Faubus attacked use of federal force to integrate Central High School, then advised his listeners: "Let us go about our normal pursuits in a friendly, peaceful manner, obeying all laws and orders, including those of Gen. Walker and his troops."

This referred to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, placed in command of paratroop units flown to Little Rock Tuesday to enforce federal court integration orders at the 2,000-student school.

An Army spokesman said Walker would have no comment.

Before the speech, the White House said President Eisenhower would have no immediate statement about it.

The governor's tone was sorrowful as he reviewed the events of the past four weeks and advised citizens to remain calm.

But his voice occasionally rang with emotion as he attacked persons he blamed for the presence of federal troops in Little Rock.

Intermittent racial violence has occurred at the high school since it opened for the fall term Sept. 2.

The Army enforced integration Wednesday when units of the 101st Airborne Division conveyed nine Negro students into the building and used the threat of bayonets to disperse segregationist demonstrators.

The scene was quiet and tensions lessened yesterday. The only flurry came when police in the school area arrested a man identified as Sidney A. Wolff of Miami, Fla., an Air Force Reserve officer. He was jailed on a charge of disturbing the peace and carrying a concealed weapon. Wolff carried a revolver and a sports rifle was found in his car.

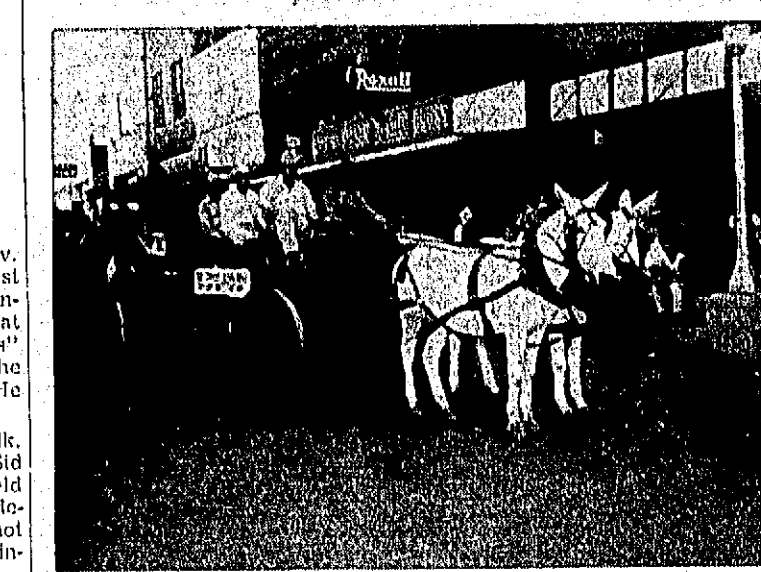

The soldiers arrested eight persons the previous day. Local authorities charged four with loitering and freed the other four.

Inside the school, the Negro students attended classes without incident both Wednesday and yesterday. Armed soldiers walked with them everywhere. The Negroes said most white students appeared friendly, and ate at the same tables with them in the school cafeteria.

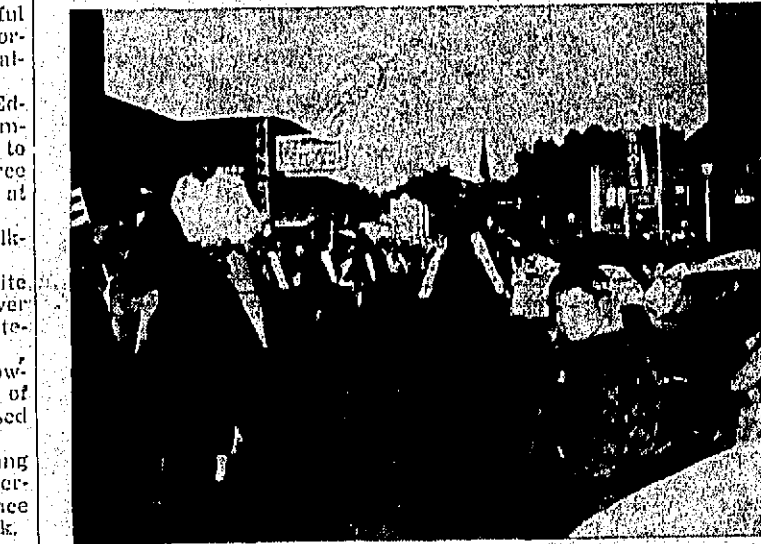

Faubus in his nationally televised and broadcast speech declared: "We are now an occupied territory. Evidence of the naked force of the federal government is here apparent in these unheated bayonets."

Texas Club Explains Incident

MARSHALL, Tex., (AP)—The president of the Marshall Kiwanis Club says it bypassed a customary pledge of allegiance to the flag, "as an expression of disapproval of federal troop movements."

President J. W. Mann said yesterday the group pledged allegiance to the Texas flag at Wednesday's luncheon.

Kiwanis International headquarters in Chicago had said the east Texas club would remain in good standing only if it altered its course of conduct.

"The only comment of the Marshall Kiwanis Club is that as an expression of disapproval of federal troop movements we, by-passed the pledge of allegiance to the U. S. flag, and gave allegiance to the flag of the State of Texas for the particular meeting," Mann said.

Other club members said the pledge was omitted after Bill Sullivan, a funeral home director, declared the presence of federal troops in Little Rock, Ark., marked "the darkest day in Southern history since Reconstruction Days." Sullivan declined to comment on the Kiwanis International statement.

Directors of the Marshall club met to discuss the Chicago announcement.

Appraisal Is Required Is State Act 153

There have been a number of acts passed in recent years designed to deal with the assessment problem, according to W. L. Hinton, Jr., director of the State Assessment Co-ordination Department, in the Game & Fish Bldg., Little Rock.

The basic act in the current endeavor on the part of the state to assist counties and other local units of government with the assessment problem is Act 153 of 1955. This Act set up the machinery, under the Arkansas Public Service commission, and provided the personnel necessary to "furnish guidance, instruction, and assistance to the county assessors in the performance of their duties under this Act."

The 1957 Legislature passed Act 234 which created a separate agency which is designated as "The Arkansas Assessment Co-ordination department." All of the functions, powers, and duties provided under the original Act were passed to the department upon the passage of the new Act.

Perhaps there is no better way to indicate the legislative intent when Act 153 was passed than to reproduce in its entirety the caption of the Act. "An Act providing for a complete appraisal and assessment of all property in this state that is required by law to be assessed by county assessors; providing that such appraisal and assessment shall be made by county assessors; specifying the powers and duties of the Arkansas Public Service commission, county assessors, county Equalization Assessor, county Equalization Assessor."

Riot Order Over South Revoked by Army Brass

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today he "hopes" federal troops won't be in Arkansas long and does not believe they will be needed to enforce school integration elsewhere in the south.

Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker said an order alerting selected troops units, throughout the South for possible "riot-type" action has been "revoked and will not be revived." Brucker refused to say who signed the order and would not release its text.

The two officials commented in separate talks with newsmen after a hectic 24 hours during which the Army first disclosed—and then suddenly revoked—the alert order, which was issued as the result of the school dispute at Little Rock, Ark. It involved greater emphasis on training to "aid the civilian power."

Wilson, in a solemn mood, said "there is nothing for anyone to cheer about" in the use of troops at Little Rock.

He added, "I hope the troops will not be there long, but no one can tell."

Asked whether he thought troops would be needed elsewhere, Wilson said: "No."

The defense secretary gave an indication of the speed with which President Eisenhower moved earlier in the week by saying that he, Wilson, was "surprised" by Mrs. Eisenhower's decision Monday night. Wilson said he learned of the decision to use troops when he returned from a week end at his Louisiana plantation at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Asked whether Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker could withdraw federal regulars and substitute Arkansas National Guardsmen in the patrol of Little Rock Central High School, Wilson replied affirmatively, but said the general could not send the regulars back to their base at Fort Campbell, Ky., without approval from Washington.

Walker is in command of all troops, including guardsmen, assigned to the enforcement of racial integration at the Little Rock school.

Brucker's prompt cancellation of the order directing "increased emphasis on training for riot duty" in "certain regular army units" touched off a series of denials that additional troop movements are planned.

Wood, Wagner Romance Is Rated No. 1

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Hollywood's No. 1 romance of the moment concerns the 1957 version of flaming youth, Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner.

It's enough to make a fan magazine editor too with delight. Natalie is the present generation what Joan Crawford and Lana Turner were to previous ones, and Bob, a longtime darling of the younger set.

When Natalie had to go to the Adirondacks for locations for "Marjorie Morningstar," Bob was there and present on the set every day.

Love! Natalie declines comment. She learned with Elvis Presley, it is difficult to carry on a romance in public.

"There never was anything between Elvis and me," she said. "How could there be. We never had enough time alone."

"My biggest mistake was going to visit him at his home in Memphis. I didn't realize people would make such a circus out of it. . . . Instead of riding Presley's motorcycle, she is now sailing on Wagner's yacht."

She said they first met when both were under contract to 20th Century-Fox. They didn't have romance in mind then. She was a child actress of 9. He was a teenager.

Now she's 19, he's 27. They have been dating since last December. Meanwhile, Natalie's career has been booming. Her biggest break

Sunday School Lesson

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
In the broad field of history two types of great men appear, entirely differing from each other in purpose and action, and suggesting a question as to what really constitutes greatness.

On the one hand have been the great destroyers; the men who have left cities in ruins and peoples dispersed and destroyed. On the other have been the great builders who, even out of seeming ruin and destruction, have often brought restoration and rebuilding.

Sometimes the purposeful builders have become the great destroyers because they did not build wisely or well. The great example of that in our time is Hitler, who, whatever his purpose to build a great Germany and a German-dominated world, became the greatest destroyer of all—including himself.

Moreover, the recently published papers of von Holstein, long associated with the German Foreign Ministry until he retired to date is "Marjorie Morningstar," the Herman Wouk best seller, which provides one of the plum roles of the year.

"We tested 20 girls for the role and considered hundreds," said producer Milton Sperling. "Among those under consideration were Elizabeth Taylor, Audrey Hepburn, Claire Bloom and other names."

"I chose Natalie because she did a sensational test. I think this picture will establish her as a big star."

Compares Faubus With McCarthy

By ED GREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—IN ORVAL Faubus you have a spiritual kin to Joe McCarthy.

Some personal resemblances are obvious: Two country boys, both ambitious. Both slow starters. Faubus finished high school at the age of 24. McCarthy was well launched on a small town business career when he decided to get a high school diploma.

And of course there are differences too between the embattled governor of Arkansas and the late junior senator from Wisconsin.

Faubus is the play-it-close-to-your-chest type—not that he can't take dramatic action when he thinks the time is ripe. He did

In 1906, seem to make it clear that the seeds of the destruction that came upon Germany in World Wars I and II were sown by Bismarck, the "Iron Chancellor" in his seemingly triumphant building.

But some builders have been great and untarnished. In achievement as well as in purpose. Among the great, true builders, none has been more typical than Nehemiah, the cupbearer to the Babylonian monarch.

The book of Nehemiah tells how he organized and led Jewish exiles back to the rebuilding of the Jerusalem and homeland from which Nebuchadnezzar had torn their forebears.

I say "forebears" for, considering the dates, I think it is doubtful whether any of the original exiles were among those who returned.

It was no small achievement to keep alive the religious zeal and patriotism that made the return possible, and it should never be forgotten that of the exiled community many remained in the establishment in Babylon, a Jewish civilization that lasted until the eleventh century A. D.

That the flame of zeal for Israel and the homeland was kept alive under the conditions so vividly portrayed in Psalm 37 was evidently due chiefly to the Prophet, Ezekiel, a priest and pastor of the exiles, Nehemiah, soldier and man of action, was the inheritor of the prophetic vision.

In the story that is so vividly recorded in the Book of Nehemiah there are strange, as well as inspiring, incidents.

That a great potentate, like Artaxerxes should be concerned because his cupbearer looked (Nehemiah 2:1,2) is less strange than that sadness should lead to so great a project of return, or that one potentate should provide so fully for the rebuilding, and reopening of a far-off part of his empire that a former potentate had done so much to deplete and destroy.

Nehemiah became a heroic fighter as well as an inspiring and efficient leader. A strange aspect is that his chief difficulty that opposition was not in Babylon, but among those in Palestine whom he hoped to help.

The opposition was strong and crafty. But Nehemiah was as wise as he was determined. I think the most outstanding thing about him, or most typical, was his reply as he stood upon the wall (Nehemiah 4:18), building and defending to those who sought subterfuge and parleying: "I am doing a great work so that I cannot come down" (Nehemiah 4:3).

this in calling out National Guard troops to halt integration and preserve order at Little Rock Central High School.

McCarthy, on the other hand, was usually one to act first and weigh the consequences later. He would rush in where Faubus might fear to tread.

Their basic common ground appears to be this: A conviction on the part of each man that he rather than the generally accepted processes of law and order—had the solution to a problem of deadline-making proportions.

With McCarthy the problem was communism. His argument was that he, or his Senate committee, alone had the full power and authority to cope with Red subversion. Time and again McCarthy and his aides said even the FBI couldn't do the job alone.

Faubus' target is school integration—or, as he puts it, "overnight" integration.

The authorities in Little Rock thought they could carry out peacefully the small degree of integration planned in their city this fall. They thought it was their responsibility to do so. Faubus held otherwise and called out the troops.

Neither Faubus nor McCarthy went so far as to say "I am the law," though both have been accused of taking just that attitude. What they did do is operate outside of, or independently of, the law as most people understand it.

Each man claimed he was taking extraordinary measures to meet an extraordinary danger. Faubus has insisted his action was necessary to prevent violence. McCarthy contended his own course was essential to exposing traitors and their willing or unwitting accomplices.

Likewise, supporters of the two men follow much the same line of argument—that the end justifies the means, that you've got to peel off your kid gloves when you're in the ring against a vicious opponent.

There may be a further similarity between Faubus and McCarthy: A zest for the limelight. McCarthy seemed to get much of his nourishment from publicity. When it dwindled, so did Joe. In

U. S. Heads for Record Crime Wave

WASHINGTON (AP)—Based on figures for the first six months, the United States is heading for another record number of crime this year.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover estimated yesterday that 1,399,670 major crimes were committed through June 30, or one for each 122 persons in the nation.

The figure was 8.4 per cent above that for the first six months of 1956, and 24.4 per cent over the average for the previous five years.

His report was based on data supplied by police departments throughout the country.

Iraq Leader Trying to Settle Arabs

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Premier Ali Jawdat of Iraq arrived in Damascus today in a dramatic demonstration of all out efforts by King Saud of Saudi Arabia to patch up Arab world differences.

It is the first visit of any Iraqi premier to Syria since the establishment of the Baghdad Pact, which tended to isolate the Iraqi regime from other Middle East Arab nations.

Iraq, like neighboring Jordan ruled by the Hashemite family, has long been feuding with the current Syrian regime.

Premier Jawdat entered Syria from Lebanon by automobile after a trip to Beirut from Istanbul and received an apparently cordial official welcome.

King Saud, who flew in yesterday, last years it was pathetic, to those who knew him, to see his eagerness for a mention of his name in the papers.

About Faubus, it is harder to tell. But this writer recalls seeing him at Providence, R. I., at his recent meeting with President Eisenhower, standing in the glare of newsreel lights with very much the expression McCarthy used to wear when the cameras were aimed at him.

For McCarthy, the lights stayed on five years. About Faubus, again, there is doubt. Unknown outside his state a few weeks ago, he may continue as a national figure. Or, if Arkansas finds a peaceful way to live with integration, he may fade to the obscurity of a man without an issue.

Best Ways to Fight Asian Flu

NEW YORK A—If the Asian flu bug bites you, the best treatment is four steps: Go to bed, at home. Consult your doctor. Take plenty of fluids. Use aspirin or other fever-fighting drugs.

This is the advice from a special committee on influenza of the American Medical Assn. Antibiotics and sulfa drugs don't do anything against the flu virus. Your doctor may use them if you get complications — infections by bacteria following along when flu has put you in a weakened condition.

Don't try to go to a hospital, the committee adds. Isolating yourself at home makes it less likely you'll spread the disease. In hospitals, you might be exposed to bacterial infections of other people.

Only Time to Tell If Ike Did Right

By ED GREAGH

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON A—He was not the stern old soldier. He was no towering figure of wrath.

Dwight D. Eisenhower was a troubled, reluctant man as he addressed the nation last night. He spoke at the outset of his sadness over the action he had just taken.

He voiced deep confidence the whole unpleasantness would be over quickly.

But in the meantime:

The President served notice that troops under federal authority will be stationed in Little Rock, Ark., until law and order have been restored—until "agitators" and their followers stop trying to keep a handful of Negro children from attending a white school.

Sobberly like a father chiding an errant son Eisenhower addressed himself to the mob and the whole populace of Little Rock and Arkansas. He told them the eyes of the world were upon them. And he must have known that the world's eyes were on him too.

Eisenhower was on trial as never before in his presidency.

He is a man who strives always for harmony. He made his reputation in war and peace as one who smooths out difficulties. But on this issue he couldn't please everybody. Whatever his course he would be damned if he did and damned if he didn't.

Suppose he let matters drift farther in Little Rock. He'd have been accused—as he already has been — of golfing while Rome burned. Said Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) after Eisenhower called out the troops: "It's damn near time he took some positive action."

On the other hand after Eisenhower took the most positive action in his power the uproar from many elements in the South was tremendous. Sen. Olin Johnston

(D-SC) came out for virtual war in his state if the same situation should occur there—as it very well may. Johnston a former governor was all for calling out the National Guard (under state control that is) and fighting it out.

What Southerners say Northerners don't understand—among other things—is this: "Federal" especially when used in connection with "troops" is all but a dirty bayonets in the back of school-girls. In the bloody face of this railroad workers who was bayoneted and then killed by the but of a rifle.

The governor apparently had incorrect information on this action, occurring Wednesday. One man was knocked down by a rifle butt when he sought to take the weapon from a paratrooper, and another was cut with a bayonet when he failed to leave the school area.

"In the name of God, whom we all revere, in the name of liberty we hold so dear, in the name of decency, which we all cherish, what is happening in America?" Faubus asked.

"Is every right reserved to the states by the federal Constitution now lost?"

"Must the will of the majority now yield under federal force, to the will of the minority regardless of the consequences?"

The governor said "literally swarms" of federal agents have been operating in Little Rock.

"To those who know the facts of the Little Rock situation, these combined notions on the part of the judicial, executive and military department of the federal government are 'police state' methods in a form never before seen in America," he said.

Laws, NAACP field secretary, said Faubus "has practically invited malcontents to defiance and violence. The governor's speech was one of raw, raging animosity, covered with a thin, transparent word in most regions south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Yankes may have forgotten Reconstruction days but the Southern memory hasn't. For 10 bitter years most of the South was under Northern military rule. Untrained Negroes and Northern carpetbaggers ran what amounted to an occupied territory.

"To this ugly aftermath of the 1861-65 war much of the South's current temper can be traced.

Eisenhower knows the South's mood. He knows the risks involved in using federal troops. Only a few months ago he said he couldn't imagine a circumstance that would cause him to enforce a segregation order with troops.

But he found such a circumstance in the violence that flared around Little Rock's Central High School Monday.

Did he act right? Too soon? Too late? Too soon? Could local authorities have rounded up the "agitators" and made outside force unnecessary as they had started to do when the troops were flown

Eisenhower will be second-guessed from Natchez to Harlem for his decision—one that is bound to influence the course of integration in the South.

His watchword has been patience—until Little Rock. Now it is "obey the law." Only time will tell how ready the South is to listen and how many troops may be called out in the meantime.

coat it calm.

"It is hoped that responsible citizens from every walk of life will speak out at once to extinguish any flame of hate Mr. Faubus may have ignited."

At several points Faubus urged calmness and expressed resignation.

At one place he said, "The federal authorities—including troops —are in control. They are handling the situation and there is nothing we can do about it."

He also said, "This crisis we here now must bear—but, as the poet said, 'Even this shall pass away.'"

In a talk with newsmen after the speech, the governor said "tremendous pressure" is being exerted on him to call an emergency session of the Legislature.

Asked if he thought he would yield to this pressure, he replied:
"Not yet."

He said such a special session if called could take two steps:
1. Abolish the school system, an action some states have proposed in the belief that private schools would be outside federal integration rulings, or

2. Withhold state aid from districts which integrate.

The governor said abolishing public schools was a "drastic step which I do not favor."

He insisted that School Supt.
Virgil Blossom had asked him for help in preserving peace and order, leading to his stationing of the National Guard at Central High Sept. 2. The guard kept Negroes out of the school.

The guard was withdrawn a week ago after a federal injunction ordered the governor and others to stop interfering with integration.

Civil police and state troopers replaced the guard last Monday but were unable to completely control a hysterical mob, which broke into violence when nine Negroes entered. The Negroes were taken out of the institution a short time later.

President Eisenhower ordered federal troops sent to Little Rock the following day and also fed-eralized all of the Arkansas National Guard, taking it from the control of Faubus.

Units of the National Guard for the last two nights have relieved the professional soldiers at the high school campus to allow the regulars to rest. The Army yesterday returned the paratroopers to duty before classes began and planned to do so today.

There are a number of other laws ciple one. In this series of articles, the pertinent part of these several laws as they affect the people of The primary purpose of all of these laws is to work toward the adoption of uniform procedures which will lead to a power valuation system, which in turn will make the property tax a more equitable and productive instru-

DOROTHY DIX

GIVE MA-IN-LAW TIME — THINGS WILL WORK OUT

Dear Dorothy Dix: Before my marriage a year ago, my mother-in-law and I were on very good terms. She changed after the birth of our baby. My husband is in service, stationed near his mother's home.

My folks live at a distance, and I took the baby home to show him to the family. When I returned, my mother-in-law was completely changed toward me. She calls my husband at the base, never at home. When we visit her, she's very cold toward me and the baby.

I have sincerely tried to effect a better relationship, but nothing works. My husband says to forget about it; my mom and dad also advise me to overlook things. I wonder should I follow their advice, or just try harder.

better relationship, but nothing
works. My husband says to forget about it; my mom and dad also advise me to overlook things. I wonder should I follow their advice, or just try harder.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My father is a heavy smoker, and I have been doing my level best to make him quit. I've offered to sacrifice one of my own pleasures, clipped articles on cigarette smoking, talked myself blue in the face, but to no avail. How can I persuade him to give up smoking?

Dear Nadine: At this point, I think the question has become a point of war. Let's settle his personal rights against your desire to be free (your alibi about his health doesn't fool anyone). Constant harping on any subject rarely accomplishes its purpose. So, let up.
Stop talking, nagging, clipping or protesting. When he realizes that cigarette smoking has ceased to be a topic of conversation, he'll most probably stop.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband thinks he's a great comic and loves to tease people — including me.
Usually I take his so-called fun in stride but lately he's been getting me real mad. My hair is beginning to turn gray, and that's his current source of enjoyment.

Practically every night he comes home with a new line on graying hair and maturing women. He's not getting younger himself, but I'm too much of a lady to remind him of that.

Dear Gretchen: Wouldn't it be fun if he came home some night and found you were a blonde? If you can't squelch his humor any other way, try it. And, a bouquet to you for not being jealous in the same vein. You're not only a lady but a diplomat.

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Sugar Ray Robinson says he doesn't know yet whether he'll seek a return bout with newly-crowned lightweight champion Carmen Basilio.
"I'm undecided now," said the four-time holder of the 160-pound crown, who was deliriously thrilled Monday night. "I want to try and plan me down. I want a few days to relax and think it over."
Basilio, pointing out that Sugar Ray has a contract for a return bout, said "the return is up to him."
Truman Robinson and Harry Marshall, officials in the International Boxing Club, said that nothing would be done until Basilio's corner manager, Joe Neizer, and John

Hope-Smackover Open District Play Tonight

The Hope Bobcats will be trying for their first win over the Smackover Buckaroos since 1951, tonight in Hammond Stadium. Last year the Bobcats defeated the Buckaroos 21 to 20 to knock the Turpinmen out of the AAA crown.
In 1955, Smackover won 13 to 7, in 1954 they won 15 to 6 and in the years 1953 and 1952, the teams tied up at 14-14. However, in 1951, the Bobcats whopped out a 26 to 0 victory and also in 1950 a 32 to 0 6 win.
Coach Turpin told the press this morning that the entire team, with the exception of Don Boothe with a pulled shoulder muscle, was in good shape to go all the ways. The Bobcats have had good practices all week, and are going out there tonight to win.

Chevalier May Be Next to Film Life

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (M) - News notes - Will Maurice Chevalier be the next show biz great to have his life filmed?
Could be, he says - if his terms are met. The Frenchman said negotiations are under way for his life story, but he has his own ideas on how it should be filmed.
"I could be a great story, encompassing two world wars," he remarked. "But I wouldn't want to let other actors do the whole story."
"I would like to have a child actor play me as a boy, another play me as a young man. Then I would like to come into the picture when I became about 50 years old."
"I think it is a mistake to have a well-known performer portrayed by somebody else. I think they were wrong in the Tolson picture not to have Tolson himself come on as he grew older. It didn't sound right to have that voice come out of a different face all the time."
Victor Mature is back in Hollywood for his first film here in three and a half years. It's called "China Doll," and Vic won't linger or when it's finished. He dashes off this weekend for Libya and a film about the African tank corps.
"I do like to travel," he admitted. "But there's another thing - the kind of deals you can make overseas more tough to pass up." And Vic is a lad who has always respected the buck. The deal for his next picture, a $175,000 plus 25 per cent of the net.
Walt Disney is touring Europe, but he is doing his best to keep it a secret. Before he left, he got himself a crewcut and said he would shave off his mustache while traveling.
He grew his mustache in the first place, he says, when he was a budding cartoon maker in his 20s. His youth made it impossible to get businessmen to take him seriously.

Highly Paid Justice Files Lawsuit

HARTFORD, Conn. (M) - A $19, 000-a-year member of connecticut's highest court has filed suit against the state for $71, Associated Justice James E.
Murphy of the Supreme Court of Connecticut says his 1953 salary was short $70.34 and his next year's wages minus six cent for a total of $71.
The state comptroller denies the jurist lost any of his 1953 salary but admits that dropping of some penalty fractions in computing may have cost Murphy the six cents.
San Marino, a tiny republic of 13,000 people in the heart of Italy, has remained independent for 17 centuries since 302 A. D.

Porkers Favored to Beat Tulsa on Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE (M) - University of Arkansas Coach Jack Michell apparently paid no attention to oddsmakers who made his Porkers two to three touchdown favorites over Tulsa in the game at Razorback Stadium here tomorrow.
The youthful coach worked his charges as hard this week as if they had been three touchdowns underdogs.
The Porkers wound up a series of closed-gate sessions with kicking drills yesterday indicating that Mitchell may employ more of the booting strategy which overthrew Oklahoma State last week.
Halfback Terry Aronson prompted to the second unit because of an injury to halfback Billy Kyser was booming punt yesterday and fullback Gerald Nesbitt worked long and hard on his quick kicks. The ends and tackles worked equally hard on covering the boots.
Tulsa, which lost its opener to Hardin-Simmons after illness and injuries crippled the Hurricane squad, will be in better physical shape for the Porkers. Fullback Duwayne Gandy, a key man in Tulsa's belly series, will be back in action after an appendectomy knocked him out of the Hardin-Simmons tilt. And slick quarterback George Cagulia has recovered from a bout with flu and a sprained ankle.
Mitchell, apparently discounting the fact that the Porkers held Oklahoma State scoreless last week, worked the Hogs hard on defense this week, but he was not overtly satisfied with the results.
"Our defense is worse than it's ever been," he wailed yesterday.
"That line is just too small to hold."
Mitchell said yesterday that center Jay Donathan and halfbacks Donnie Stone and Don Horton, all starters, will be able to play in the game unless something develops.

Sooners Idle, May Lose Out Statistically

By The Associated Press Statistically - the Sooners in the Big Eight Football Conference will have an opportunity this week to shut Oklahoma into a runner-up spot. The Sooners usually allow such things to happen only temporarily.
Oklahoma ground out 310 yards rushing and 78 passing in beating Pittsburgh 26-0 last week to again take the conference lead in team offense with 383 yards.
But while the Sooners are idle this week Kansas State, Colorado and possibly Nebraska may slip to the front.
The Wildcats rank second to Oklahoma in the early season offensive statistics with 381 yards - 275 rushing and 36 passing.
Colorado holds the No. 3 spot with 240 yards, all but two gained by rushing.
Nebraska follows with 239 yards, getting 153 running and 86 passing.
In one of those instances where figures fail to prove anything - Iowa State beat Denver 10-0, while being out rushed and out passed.
Denver gained 256 yards to 218 for the Cyclones. Missouri earned a 7-7 tie with Vanderbilt but gained only 110 yards to Vandy's 314, and Kansas came from behind to tie Texas Christian 13-13, getting only 194 yards to 267.
The shoe was on the other foot in the 12-0 loss dealt Oklahoma State by Arkansas. The Cowboys won the edge statistically, 170 yards to 141 for the Razorbacks.
Oklahoma's first game performance did not measure up to its 480-plus yard average of last year but the Sooners may be expected to pad their statistics in future games against weaker conference competition.
Looking for their first victories of the season this week, Kansas State plays Brigham Young at Manhattan, Missouri meets Arizona at Columbia, Colorado will be at Boulder against Utah, Kansas plays Oregon State at Lawrence, Nebraska is at the U. S.
Army Military Academy, and Oklahoma State goes to North Texas State.
Iowa State, the only other team to win its opener last weekend besides Oklahoma, will be at Syracuse.
Practice sessions generally were on the light side yesterday.
The Cyclones, Oklahoma State and Nebraska will be traveling today while the other clubs go through light loosening up exercises.
Swedish liquor stores also sell soft drinks, including some American brands.

Prescott May Cancel - Guard Took Players

Coach Phillip Reginelli of the Prescott Curley Wolves said Friday morning that unless members of his team called to Little Rock with the National Guard were released he would be forced to cancel the game with Arkadelphia in Clark County tonight.
Eleven members of the team are with the guard. The Prescott Coach said he had several injured men and that it would be better to cancel one game than to risk further injury by playing tonight with only a handful of players.
He said they had been trying to get the men released in time to play tonight but so far had been unsuccessful. It looks now as if we'll have to cancel, he said.

Hope Juniors Are Defeated at Texarkana

The Jefferson Junior High Piggybacks of Texarkana weren't very good hosts last night and slipped down the Hope Junior Bobkittens to the tune of 23 to 0.
The Piggybacks scored two touchdowns and a safety for 16 points, in the second quarter and added another touchdown in the final period. It was the first defeat for the Hope boys in two outings.
All heads of the French government have been since 1873 presidents of the French Republic with one exception. In 1944 Marshal Petain proclaimed himself as "chief of state."

Eternity

There is a term to grapple with . . . ETERNITY! Endless past time; endless future time . . . foreverness. That state or condition which begins at death. From everlasting to everlasting . . . ETERNITY. The time it would take the sea gull pictured above to empty the Pacific Ocean into the Atlantic . . . that would be Eternity. It is too big to understand but I know what it means for me. When this earthly house is dismantled, my soul will live on and on. That is actually what it means. But one question: Is my life worth all that? Is yours? Here is where the church can help you to be useful . . . to help bring in the Kingdom . . . to be an Ambassador for God . . . to prepare the world for His coming . . . for ETERNITY.

Cooler Weather of Autumn Hits

By The Associated Press

The coolest weather of the autumn season spread over broad areas from the Midwest to the middle Atlantic states today.

The chilly air covered the upper Mississippi Valley eastward across the Great Lakes region into the north Atlantic Coast states and southward into parts of the Ohio Valley and middle Atlantic states.

Biggest temperature drops were reported from Pennsylvania northward into New England. Readings were mostly 15 to 20 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier, and dropped to below freezing in some areas. Oil City, Pa., reported 28 degrees, the first below freezing mark in Pennsylvania this season. It was near freezing in Syracuse, N. Y.

Lower marks chilled northern Great Lakes areas, with temperatures in the 20s in many places. The 28 reading at Pellston, Mich., was one of the coolest spots.
